12 Principles of Reciprocal Leadership

Leveraging the power of reciprocity for educational success

Dr. Ivy Bonk
Educational Psychologist/Consultant
12 Principles of Reciprocal Leadership

Reciprocal leadership means giving in order to receive, it means leading from the end.

- Reciprocity is a natural law.
- Reciprocity is outward facing and others-focused.
- Reciprocity requires authenticity.
- Reciprocity is key to force multiplication.
- Reciprocity is essential for turning silos into circles.
- Reciprocity progresses based on the exchange of leader-follower.
- Reciprocity changes the way you see.
- Reciprocity has a compounding effect.
- Reciprocity is facilitated by a common goal or purpose.
- Reciprocity is courageous.
- Reciprocity is individual, yet interdependent.
- Reciprocity is more concerned with the infinite game than the finite game.
Start when you want to end.

If you would like to learn more about the 12 Principles of Reciprocal Leadership and how you can use them to build a culture of reciprocity that can host this most important work of trauma-informed education, email us at support@mytraumainformedschool.com